

Being tested for Coronavirus in a test centre.

Coronavirus is a new virus.
Coronavirus is also called COVID-19.

Coronavirus can affect people's lungs and airways. It can make people feel sick.

Coronavirus can spread from person to person.

People who have Coronavirus might have:

A fever

A cough

Shortness of breath.

If I have these symptoms or if I am worried, I should phone my G.P. or ask staff for help.

My GP might say I need to be tested for Coronavirus.

I might be tested in a special test centre or

I might be tested in my car.

I will get a text message to tell me to come to the test centre car park.

I will get in the car and staff will drive me to the car park.

When I arrive at the car park, I will meet the testers. They will be wearing masks and goggles and gloves.

The testers will give me a mask to wear.

I might be asked to stay in the car.
I might be asked to walk inside the test centre.

The testers will take my temperature with a special thermometer.

They will ask me to open my mouth.
They will put something called a swab at the back of my throat. I will need to open my mouth wide.

They will also swab my nose.

It does not hurt!

Altogether it only takes about ten minutes. Then I can go home!

My GP will let me know the results in a few days' time.
